ABSTRACT

[0056]   A method and a search engine are described. A unique key is received. A hash is searched for a match to the unique key. Concurrently with searching the hash, a cache is searched for the match to the unique key. And information regarding the unique key is obtained.